'Return to New Guinea', Subject Of Lecture Tonight at El Camino

"Return to New Guinea," a 25-year study of the New Guinea people, will be the topic of Dr. Margaret Mead's lecture, to be presented in El Camino College's Campus Theater Thursday at 8:15 p.m.

In her lecture, Dr. Mead will discuss her study of a group of small children from Manus, New Guinea.

In 1928, Dr. Mead studied this small group of children, and then 25 years later she returned to re-study this same small group of people, now grown and who had in that short span, traversed from stone age to atomic age in paganism to Christianity, from tiny hamlets to organized life which it has taken most of mankind 20,000 years to cover.

During this re-study, Dr. Mead spent six months in re-visiting and re-studying the New Guinea communities where she lived before World War II and in examining the changes that had been brought about since her 1925 visit by contacts of the natives with Europeans, Asiatics and Americans.

Studies Societies

Dr. Mead, who is associate curator of ethnology at the American Museum of Natural History, is currently engaged in a study of present-day civilizations like that of America in the light of the perspective she gained by her studies of small, homogeneous, stable societies, and developing cultural theories of human behavior.

Emphasizing that anthropology is a "science of clues," Dr.

Mead uses insights she gained on remote islands to illuminate cultural patterns in European and American countries.

She wrote two books, "And Keep Your Powder Dry," and "Male and Female," reflecting this study.

Interest in Natives Dr. Mead became interested in the native people on the Pacific islands south of the equator while working toward her doctorate.

As a National Research Council fellow, she studied adolescent girls in Samoa during 1925-26 and wrote "Coming of Age in Samoa," praised both for content and style by critics.

Dr. Mead has given courses of lectures at Columbia University, Vassar, Stanford, the University of California, and also lectured in Great Britain, Australia, and France.

Tickets for the lecture are available in the college's campus book store at 50 cents each.

Supervisor Kenneth Hahn this week stated that he was very pleased with the progress being made on construction of the community recreation building at El Nido Park.

Although the contract was only awarded a few days ago, the contractor has already finished the grading, has installed rough plumbing, and has poured the concrete slab for the floor.

Supervisor Hahn said the building will be completed and ready for use in another three months, and is expected to be of particular value to Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and other youth groups.

FRANK W. BURK
Inherited Interest

Burk's Mother Interested in Civic Affairs

Frank W. Burk, of 5104 Zakon Rd., is following the family tradition by exhibiting an interest in civic affairs. His interests in local government was instilled at a very early age by his mother, Mrs. Rose Burk, who organized the first youth recreation center in Santa Monica many years ago.

Burk, who lives in his Seaside residence with his wife, Sus, and children, Clifford, 14, Donna, 5, and William Earl, 5, has been a Torrance resident since his return from service with the United States paratroops in 1945.

A qualified trammalman, Burk was an operator for the Pacific Electric (now Metropolitan Coach Lines) for 11 years. Prior to the war, Burk served as a service and flight inspector for Douglas Aircraft Co. Exhibiting interest in youth activities even then, he opened one of the first boys clubs in Hollywood in 1940. Since living in Torrance, Burk has re-activated Troop 721 of the Boy Scouts of America, organized a teenage car club, and established the "teenage" auto repair garage known as the T-Timers, the latter "a dream come true."

In Elks Club He is youth activities chairman for the Elks Club of Torrance, a member of the American Legion, and the FTA, and a chosen member of the governor's juvenile board.

He attended Polytechnic High School in Los Angeles and majored in engineering at U.C.S. in Santa Barbara. He was a rigging instructor with the U. S. Army paratroops. He owned and operated Frank's Auto Repair in Santa Monica.

Burk, 35, has been in the furniture business for the past three years.

Explains Issues
"The major issue of my platform is adequate youth facilities, youth centers for north and southwest Torrance," Burk stated.

He said adequate facilities must include space enough to house teenage dances, snack bar, various indoor games, and handcraft classes for children, etc. Also needed, are areas for ball diamonds and apparatus for small children, he claims.

Burk is also campaigning on a platform of improved bus service to and from the Torrance shopping district and from all our outlying districts. "We must establish a teenage canteen for our 3000 teenagers in Torrance," Burk concluded.

Chace Scores Proposal on Beach Funds

Retiteration of his previous charge that Los Angeles County was being "short changed" in the proposed budget submitted to the Legislature by the State Division of Beaches and Parks was voted last week by County Supervisor Burton W. Chace.

Chace pointed out to his colleagues on the Board of Supervisors that of the $28,000,000 program announced by news services, some $3,000,000 was allocated for beaches and parks in Los Angeles County.

"This," said Chace, "appears to be just a little more than 10 per cent of the total and which, in view of the fact that this County has almost 40 per cent of the population, appears to be an inequitable distribution of State funds."

"The original program submitted to the State of California calls for the expenditure of some $8,000,000 by the State for the purchase of beaches and inland parks for this County. This amount represented the minimum necessity and I feel that for us to acquiesce to any smaller amount would be a serious wrong."

The Supervisor was authorized by his colleagues to go to the Legislature in person or send a representative to present the County's case before the body.

Chace pointed out that with the tremendous growth in Los Angeles County any unnecessary delay in acquiring sites for expansion of beaches and parks could mean that the necessary properties could never be acquired because of the increase in value.

Reflections

By J. HUGH SHERFEY, JR.
IT'S SPRING
Wild flowers are mixing colors to paint the fields. Birds are swelling to give our trees new clothes. Our house weathered winter storms; it needs a new dress. Flower beds need renovating; bulbs, now, new shrubs will give the yard that Spring-time look. Mother has a color card; she wants the interior of her home to be fresh and clean. Screens have rusted; they need paint — a new ladder will help to take them down and replace them, safely. Turn the dial to S P R I N G. Then get busy.

Clean out that pile of cans, rake up the lot next door, remove debris from gutters, repair the hose, trim the trees and have all the trash hauled away. Let's start fresh. It's Spring.

P.S. One thing you remember is Nature's beauty — flowers. We handle them as if they were our own.
